LONDON, Feb. 8.-The Spanish authorities are decidedly uneasy over the possible character of the demonstration at a mass meeting called at Madrid for Tuesday next. The 11th of February is the anniversary of the abdication of Amadeus, the recently deceased Duke of Aosta, and the inauguration of the shortlived Republic, a form of government which oo tender-hearted to punish the enemies who hink the announced gathering will mark an mportant era in Spanish history. An Iberian Republic, somewhat after the nodel of the United States, nicely rounded off by the admission of Portugal, is mildly hoped for by such Republicans as Marguel and Castelar, the Spaniards reminding the inhabitants of the smaller kingdom how handy it would be in case of another difficulty to belong to a body capa-ble of defending its rights. Senhor Gomes is said to have cynically remarked in reference to such argument that after the Spanlards have driven the English out of other people.

Bumors of a Wreck.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 6.—From the fact doubtiess that a severe storm raged last night in the East, a rumor was current to-day of a wreck near Hinton, W. Va. Officers of that road, the Chesapeake & Ohlo, say that there is like the comfort and converges of unjust and oppressive delay. ion, the most danzerous innovation proposed by the majority. If agreed to it will not only overfhrow the construction that has been uniformly given to the Constitution for more than a century, but it will enable less than a majority of the representatives of the people to pass the most important laws, affecting the interests of the whole country. The personal property rights of the clizens, protected heretofore by the laws enacted by the votes of a mere fraction of the members of Congress for if less than a majority may constitutionally pass measures in the House, of course, the same thing may be done in the Senate. In the same way enormous sums of money may be appropriated from the public treasury for the most unconstitutional purposes and the interests of the tax payers completely subordinated to the selfish demands of private individuals and corporations. "Without entering here into a discussion of the constitutional question involved in this proposition, we earnestly protest against it as a measure of the most dangerous and ravolutionary character. Any rule or practice which enables the Speaker or the Clerk to pass bills by counting members present and not voting will inevitably result in destroying the confidence of the people in the integrity of legislation and engender controversies and litigations which might be easily avoided by an adherence to the mandate of the Constitution as heretofore interpreted."

In regard to the rule authorizing the Speaker or to count a quorum the report says: "Rule 19 directs the method of ascertaining a quorum when members present refuse to vote on a roll-call. The process of ascertaining the presence of a quorum to do business under the Constitution would ordinarily be under the constitution would ordinarily be under the control of the Speaker, who would derive his information from his own senses or by the aid of a clerk, or in any way which would satisfy his mind of the accuracy of the count, Under our system of roll calls, it has been deemed more convenient to ascertain and announce the votes of members and presence of those who refuse to vote at the same time and by the same means."

Discussing the new clause to Rule 25, that no "dilatory motion shall be entertained by the Speaker," the report says: "This clause is merely declaratory of parliamentary law. There are no words which can be framed which will limit members to the proper use of proper motions. Any motion the most conductive to progress in the public business or the most salutary for the comfort and convenience of members may be used for purporation at the regarding of the Constitution and aherence to the mandate of the Constitution and aherence to the mandate of the Constitution and aherence to the mandate of the Constitution and sheretofore interpreted."

The Sedalia Postmastership.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 8 .- The Sedalla Post-office is causing quite a row. This morn-Clarkson was crowded with those interested, who delivered arguments for and against the several candidates. Capt. L. L. Bridges and Congressman Wade were there in behalf of Harry Demuth. The Congressman from the Ninth Congressional District, at the request of some of the Missouri merchants, was on hand with Capt. Truxtell, who is making a vigorous effort to succeed to the place. Capt. E. G. Smith was there talking for D. C. Crawford. The Assistant Postmaster General has found the last named talker "a talker from talkerville." He is well pleased with Demuth and Crawford, yet the contest between the two has got so hot that he will likely recommend the nomination of Capt. Truxtell, a Grand Army man, as a compromise. The case will be ended Tuesday next.

HAS GONE EAST.

Clerk, Still Ahend of the Detectives.

Supt. L. A. Fuller of the Pacific Express Co. where he went in hopes of finding some tan-Walton, the Dallas (Tex.) money clerk, who absconded Sunday last with $35,000. Mr. Fuller was clerk, who absconded Sunday last with $35,000. Mr. Fuller was busy and not inclined to talk, but it was evident that he did not have strong faith in catching Walton before he has had opportunity to get away with the bulk of the money. All he knew, he said, was that Walton had passed through St. Louis and gone East. Where, he could not say. Walton has led the detectives a lively chase. With over two days' start he has been traced on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas train north from Denison, by the same train to Kansas City, where he called on an old messenger who had served with him in the Wells-Fargo service, and then to this city, where all that could be learned was that he had gone cast. Here the trail ends for the time.

Mr. L. S. Garrison, the agent at Dallas, is also in the city. He says that Walton was never in Mexico, and that the shooting acrape which has been referred to was nothing but a Fourth of July spree which he and some young fellows engaged in at Albuquerque, where he was employed. The agent there reprimanded him, but did not discharge him. On account of the reprimand Walton resigned. At Dallas, Mr. Garrison said, Walton was very steady. In twenty years' service in the express business he had never had a more steady employe, and if he had led a fast life it had been within the last few weeks.

THE ST. LOUIS FOLICE NOTIFIED.

Mr. I. S. Garrison, the agent in charge of the office of the Facinc Express Co. at Dallas, Tex., called at the Four Courts this morning and officially notified the St. Louis authorities of the theft of the package containing $35,000 in cash which was taken by Clerk F. A. Walton on last Sunday evening. Mr. Garrison had little to say in the matter other than that which has been reported. He furnished the detectives with a revised description of the absoonder, which is as follows: F. A. Walton, 25 years of age, good looking, smooth, red face, dark hair, cut very short behind; weight, 150 pounds; height, 5 feet, 10 inches; medium build; round sear on back hold him had been within t would be closed." How soon that was likely to occur be would not say. He admitted; though, that several meetings had been held for the purpose of arriving at some conclusion and at a conference yesterday it was anticipated that a favorable conclusion would be reached, but the negotiations with the directors, Mr. Ecorge W. Allen, Chouteau Maffit, John O'Falion, B. C. Lucas and Henry Turner, had failed. His lease of the hotel portion of the building calls for $89, 200 a year, and it is uncratood that he is about $12,000 in arrears. When asked why he intended closing the house all he would say in reply was: "Let anyone wilk down Fourth street from Christy avenue; that will answer the question." By this he referred to the decline that had taken place in the business activity of that once busy retail thoroughfure. The ticket offices and stores under the hotel are bringing in an additional restail of $18,000 a year, but Mr. Gerardi has nothing to do with those tenants. They rent from the owner of the property. Nevertheless, Mr. Gerardi says they are very much exercised at the probability of the house being closed and all of them have been to see him about it. He could do nothing for them, he said, more than refer them to their landiord, who controlled the situation, and he exercised great caution in talking to them for fear that he would be accused of inciting them to act in his behalf.

From other parties it is understood that an extension of the lease upon more favorable forms is what is desired to justify the expense of refitting and refurnishing the house, which will cost at least $10,000. It is sadly in need of these repairs, and that in connection with the wide publicity given the proposed sale of the property, has seriously damaged the reputation of the lotel.

Last evening Mr. Gerardi filed several chatted mortgages for secord in favor of his wife and John Gerardi, his cousin, preferred creditors, and to protect their interests in the matter the directors of the "Planters" House a linearch of his bank account aker Alt Unexpectedly Calls for a Report in a Matter Which Has Been Before the supreme Court for Three Years—What he Gas Bill Means—Mr. Bell's Return.

rather significant resolution was intro peaker Alt. It called upon the Water missioner to inform the House by what authority the Mound City Distilling Co. and the Laciede Cas Co. were permitted to pump water out of the river direct and thus evade the payment of a water license.

The suggestion that the Laclede Gas Co. was pumping water was rather a surprise. No one knew nor does anyone about the City Hall now know whether the Laclede company is pumping water or not. It is known that a number of factories along the river do pump and this was a random shot. The cases of the Laciede company and the Mound City company are very different.

The Laciede Co. owns all the property between its works and the river, has a perfect right to lay all the pipes it wants on its own property, and since the House does not con-trol the Mississippi it is very clearly none of Mr. Alt's business why they pump water direct from the river.

The St. Louis Sugar Refinery does the same thing, and under similar circumstances. So do the Laciede Rolling Mills, and many of the the property to the water's edge pump their

The Mound City Distilling Co., however, tillery and the river; in fact, there is a street east of the distillery and the pipe to the river grosses under this street. The House has ould have been exercised in this case had case from within the boundary of its dison. The pipe was taid under authority of a permit granted by Mayor Overstolz, and of a permit granted by Mayor Overstols, and a bill giving the distilling company the right to maintain it was introduced, but never passed. After the failure of the bill the pipe was ordered up and the city was going to cut it, but the company secured a temporary injunction and took the case into court. It was tried in the Circuit Court, but since August, 1887, it has been in the hands of the Supreme Court, but no decision has ever been handed down.

he Supreme Court, but no decision has ever een handed down.

That is the way the matter now stands. Just

That is the way the matter now stands. Just what provocation there was for this resolution does not appear.

It was suddenly interjected Into the proceedings of the evening without any apparent eause. Why the sugar refinery, the rolling mills, planing mills and a dozen other factories that pump water out of the river, some over their own land, some under streets, were not included is equally uncertain. The fact that Al Bevis, the President of the Mound City Distilling Co., was the witness who appeared before the Grand-jury and swore that be paid Wm. Garienbach, an ex-member of the House, $300 to secure the passage of a switch bill, and that on Bevis' testimony Gartenbach was indicted for bribery could not have been the eause, for the Hods would surely not harass a man simply because he was aiding in the punishment of a guity ex-member. The House would scarcely place likelf in that position. It is, therefore, strangely interesting to wonder what prompted that sudden interest in the water supply of these two particular institutions when there are dozens of others doing the same thing and no questions asked.

The bill reducing the price of gas to 90 cents each and 95 cents after five days has passed both Houses, but it will not go to the Mayor until next Wednasday.

The Council had adjourned when the

The Council and adjourned when the Speaker of the House signed it and it could not be returned last night. Next Tuesday night it will go from the House to the Council with a measage announcing that the Speaker has signed it and on Wednesday it will be sent to the Mayor. The bill is considered in some respects an important one. If it receives the Mayor's signature, thea will follow one of the bitterest legal contests the city has everable. The gas company denies the right of the city of fix the price of gas. The city claims to have that right. The whole purpose of this bill is to raise that question and have the courts decide whether that right exists or not. The gas company will resist the enforcement of the ordinance, and it will be taken into court at once if it is signed by the Mayor.

Mr Bell's Rature.

City Counselor Bell returned to-day and was in his office as usual. When asked about the ceived a communication from the Council asking for an opinion he would write one and send it to them. "Sutter is not ready to begin the lighting," he said, "and he wants to have his time extended and his fines remitted, but I cannot tell what sort of an opinion to give on the case until I hear from the Council wha

Dismissed the Suit.

The suit of Flackert vs. the city of St. Louis for the possession of some land-190x678 feet, Front and Cherokee streets, city block 204 1, and 192x450 feet, Front and Bryan streets, city block 2043, and for damages, was dismissed in the United States Circuit Court by the plaintiff to-day.

The Special Election.

The Mayor's proclamation concerning the Marshalship election has been expected for a day or two, but up to this afternoon it had not been issued. The Mayor has not been at the City Hall for two or three days, and this probably accounts for the failure of the proclamation to go forth.

WILL APPLY FOR PARDON. The Case of an Ignorant Italian in Printer Counterfeiting.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparce.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Attorney J.S. Fuller on, the well-known criminal lawyer, will son for pardon or reprisve in the case of Geateno Russo, an Italian now undergoing a twelve-year sentence in the Eric County Penitentiary on a charge of counterfeiting. The case is a most peculiar and interesting one, illustrating the too often unfortunate tendency of the unscrupulous monopolist to hagnify the crime of an accused person to his detriment and to the defeat of the ends of justice. Basso is a Stellian, unable to read or write or speak correct English, yet he is charged with being the bead of a gang of counterfeiters having Paris as beadquarters and printing silver certificates to the amount of $50,000. He is nearly blind, utterly devoid of inventive genius, and so simple minded that though over 50 years of age he seems but a child in conversation.

There is little doubt, in view of the facts in possession of Mr. Fullerton, that the President will pardon or at least reprieve him. Russo came to this country with his wife in 1882, going first to New Orleans, where he kept a fruit stand, and by industry and economy speedily amassed what to him was an ample competence. Going from there to San Francisco he was nearly runned in an attempt to run a salcon. With the few hundred dollars remaining from the wreak he went to New York in 1876 and became again a dealer in fruit, quickly recouping his shattered finances. All these years he had been an honest, lewabiding and industrious man. In 1887 he went to Boston for a time and there met a fellow-countryman, who induced him to take off his hands the sum of $35 in "green goods." This was Russo's first and only attempt at crime. His wife, who is by long odds his mental superior, undertook to pass the counterfeit money. She was detected and both were arrested. Russo's lawyer told him to plead guilty to making the money while his wife acknowledged passing R. For this they were both sentenced to six months at the Cambridge (Mass.) Penitentiary. This was a very light sentence due to their previous good character and obvious informace.

On being released they visited tiary. This was a very light sentence due to their previous good character and obvious ignorance.

On being released they visited Europe, returning to New York in 1888. About $25 of the old counterfeit bills were still in their possession, and in an evil hour Mrs. Russo attempted to pass a $1 silver certificate. Both were again arrested. Lawyer Howe defended them. Their house was searched and the remainder of the bogus money found. Mr. Howe advised Russo to plead guilty, which he did, although there was not an atom of evidence against him. Judge Benedict thereupon sentenced him to twolve years in the penitentiary. His wife, who was the real culprit, received four years at the Monroe County Penitentiary. No soomer were Russo and his wife arrested, than a journal, pining for a sensation, elevated this poor ignorance to the pinnacle of villainy. His picture was given, together with several columns of fake history, wherein he was represented as a brilliant crook, the would-be murderer of his wife and a king of counterfeiters. This article was extensively copied, and Chief Detective Bell of Washington received much public commendation for unearthing such a daring criminal. Could the public have seen the poor, ignorant culprit there would have been a revulsion of feeling. The story of his attempting to murder his wife is a palpable absurdity. She continues to regard him affectionately, and as often as the prison rules will permit she writes him long letters which are read to him. He is broken in health, and cannot possibly outlive his sentence. He has nearly $4,000 laid up in a New York sayings bank.

ST. LOUIS TO LEAD A MOVEMENT TO RE-MOVE THE PRESENT OBJECTIONS.

Large Majority of the House of Repre sentatives Favor a Non-Partisan World's Fair—How the Political Features Can Be Removed—St. Louis to Lend the New Movement.

plications that have arisen in relation to the World's Fair, although apparently disastrous, are considered by many destructive, but in realsuccess of the project. St. Louis at the national ized representatives of effective work has been done by private citizens whose business has taken them to Wash-ington during the past month or six weeks.

A CHANGE OF PLAN.
From letters received from Washington it is learned that a new plan of campaign is to be inaugurated and it is hoped that it will result in obviating the objectionable features that have been introduced, and in securing the passage of a bill by Congress placing the World's Fair on a proper basis. During the last few weeks when the excitement attending the proceedings in the House has run high, few of the Congressmen have had an oppor-tunity of paying any attention to World's Fair matters, with the exception of those who have served on the special committee. These representatives were appointed not because they were qualiled to take a broad and comprehensive view of the situation, but on account of their known and acknowledged partisanship for the cities that had entered the race. The the interest of a World's Fair, but each fac on has gone to work with the purpose of gaining every possible advantage for the city which it represented. A great proportion of the present complications have origi-nated in this committee. A number Louis is anything like a political scheme to be worked.

PROM THE FIRST
the plan of the New Yorkers to raise $10,000,000 by State legislation met with little favor with a majority of Congress, and instead of strengthening the position of that city, it is asserted that it seriously weakened it. What both Congressman and their constituents desire is a national exposition, not one under the management of New York or any other State. The importance of the pecuniary feature of the campaign has, it is alleged, been very much exaggerated. Congress is perfectly willing to make an advance, and only desires that the Government be reasonably assured against loss. A popular subscription to a guarantee fund, drawn from all classes and parties, would undoubtedly strengthen the claims of any city, but many representatives are inclined to look askance at any fund which is under the control of State Legislatures. Recognizing these facts, the St. Louis delegation has about determined to resolve itself temporarily into a delegation in favor of a World's Fair, irrespective of where it shall be held, leaving this matter to be settled upon its merits.

BY SO DOING

be held, leaving this matter to be settled upon its merits.

BY SO DOING
it is deemed probable that the fair can be saved from wreck by the political features introduced by. New York and Chicago, and that by serving the country St. Louis can best serve its own interests. Nothing of any importance can be accomplished until aome of the most pressing questions now before Congress have been settled, but when this is done it is believed that the subject of an international exposition will be taken up and that if properly managed it will resive a majority. The representatives of St. Louis propose to lead the way in this agitation, advocating a national and not a State fair, under the control of Congress, and the affairs of which shall be directed by a non-partisan committee appointed at Washington. If this plan succeeds St. Louis will have a double claim on the location, its natural advantages and the prestige incident to having saved the fair. The present position of affairs is not favorable to the proposed international exposition, but it is believed that by the changes indicated the fair can be saved and St. Louis be chosen.

Mr. Comfort introduced a bill authorizing the laying a switch from the Wabash Railroad, 125 feet south of Branch street, to the property of Justin E. Joy.

Mr. Meier offered a bill to pay Joseph Wolfert $325.59 alleged excessive taxation on account of the improvement of Florida street.

Mr. Comfort introduced a bill authorizing the St. Louis Railroad Co. to lay tracks on Broadway from Elm to Cherokee streets, and for the maintenance of an electric line with overhead wires or storage battery on Seventh, Elm and Spruce.

The bill to improve Fourteenth street from Gratiot to Clark avenue with granite passed by a unanimous vote. A majority of the property owners wanted wood, but the Board of Public Improvements refused to recommend a wood parament so near the business portion of the city.

An ordinance granting Joseph Pulitzer the right to open a tunnel under the alley east of the Post-Disparch building was passed on recommendation of the Board of Public Improvements. The tunnel connects the Post-Disparch business portion of the city.

The bill reducing the price of gas to 90 cents on the signed without objection from the Council.

The Sutter contracts were re-referred to the Committee on Public Improvements with instructions to get a written opinion from Counselo Bell.

On motion of Mr. Comfort, the bill giving the Merchants' Terminal Co. the right to lay a switch track on Main street in front of city block No. 229 was filed, on the ground that such a track would be an obstruction to side walk traffic.

The Merchants' Terminal was granted the right to lay a single track into the block owned by itself at the southeast corner of Main and Mullamphy streets.

Mr. Rohan voted 'no,'' because the original bill called for six tracks and under similar circumstances the O. B. & Q. was allowed six tracks.

Judge Klein Decides a Question of Resider —Judgment in Personal Taxes Suits. A neat question in law was answered by Judge Klein this morning in a written opinion among his weekly list of rulings. It was in the case of the St. Louis Merchants' Bridge Terminal Railway Co. against Mrs. Mary E. Boyce. Mrs. Boyce is now in Rome, Italy. She is the owner of some property in North Terminal Railway Co. against Mrs. Mary E. Boyce. Mrs. Boyce is now in Rome, Italy. She is the owner of some property in North St. Louis which the railroad company wishes to condemn and not being in the city where a copy of the petition could be served on her, an order of publication was cranted the railroad company to inform the defendant of the proceeding. Her attorney told her of the case and on her instructions filed a plen to jurisdiction in which she claimed to be a resident of St. Louis, having removed only temporarily, but still could not be antified of any proceeding by publication in this country while in Europe or a foreign country. Judge Klein reviewed the case in quite a lengthy manner and conclude by saying that, as this is her home, an order of publication here would reach her no matter where she was.

FERSONAL TAX CARS.

Judge Klein also decided the two interesting cases of Henry Ziegenhein, Collector, against thorace Ghiselin and Henry T. Mudd for saxes. This is the first decision in personal tax cases rendered since the new law went into effect. In the case of Horace Ghiselin, the Collector levies for taxes on $15,000 worth of personal property. Mr. Ghiselin claimed he had no personal property except $12,000, and asked that the judgment against him be for taxes on that amount and no more. He was administrator of the estate of William F. Ferguson. The Courtsays taxes are not an indebtedness on an estate, but it was the duty of the executor independent of any action to pay the bill, and he was entitled to credit for all he lawfully paid off. "If by his neglect he has imposed burdens on the estate which ought not to have been imposed he is individually chargeable for the neglect. The judgment in this case must be personal against him for $745.57.

PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 8.-Washington Hall, which occupied a plot of ground on Broad-way 400x600 feet in size, was burned to the ground at about 2 o'clock this morning. The loss will not fall much short of $300,000. A ball was in progress when the fire was dis-covered, but all the guests got out in safety, covered, but all the guests got out in safety, some, however, leaving their valuable wraps behind them. The fire originated in the basement of the building, and it was only when dense smoke made its way into the bail room, that the guests were made aware of their great danger. The building was three stories high. The first floor was occupied as offices and stores. The Armory of the First Battalion N. G. N. J., and the ball room were situated on the second floor and the rooms of Ivanhoe Lodge, A. F. and A. M. were on the top floor. In the upper part of the building were also the sleeping apartments of the jaintor, Wm. Smith, and his wife, both of whom had narrow escapes from suffocation, the latter being carried out in an upconscious state. The first bound in an upconscious state. The first being carried on the second floor in the upper part of the building. At about 2:30 when the fire was at its height, a rapid discharge of muskery took place, frightening every one away from the building. This was caused by the ignition of 10,000 rounds of carridges in the armory. The fuelliacd was kept up for some time, the builets fiying in all directions. No one was hurt, howeyer. The finness spread to a large three-story building adjoining the six months following the discontinuance of the course, thus showing that the effect was permanent. He discovered Jarvis Chambers, a big burly negro, with a knife in his hand slashing at two colored women named Bertha Robinson and Jennie Rose. The Sergeant attempted to take the negro, but the later resisted and a struggle ensued. The two men while clinched rolled down the stairway. The Sergeant, seeing that severe measures were clinched rolled down the stairway. The Sergennt, seeing that severe measures were necessary to subdue the negro, struck him behind the ear with his revolver and rendered him unconscious. The wagon was shen called and the desperate darkey was carted off. The women had both been cut a number of times. The Robinson woman had three cuts in the back, all of them six inches long, and a cut in the neck. The Rose woman's cuts were not serious. The women refuse to assign any cause for the trouble.

MUCH INTEREST BEING TAKEN IN THE IN-TRODUCTION OF FREE-HAND EXERCISES.

in Outline of What These Exercises Are to Be—The Results Expected—Supt. Long to Name the Schools in Which the Ex-periment Is to Be Made Next Week— La Grippe Causes a Big Decrease in At-periment is to be made. When the teachers of the local turn versins made the offer to the Course of Study Committee to give instruction seven schools for a sufficient period to permit the board to judge whether it would be bene-ficial to introduce the system gen-erally, they asked that the schools structors' convenience as was possible. In order that he may comply with this request, supt. Long will not name the seven schools selections early next week and the experiment will then begin at once.

Much curiosity has been manifested by both teachers and children as to exactly what is means by light gymnastics. The exercises which it is proposed to introduce as a part of the school curriculum are such as can be performed without the aid of any apparatus whatever. They will consist merely of such difficult movements as will teach the use of the various parts of the body, and give grace where there was awkwardness nearly as possible, the amount of exercise needed by each muscle of the body. Most of the exercises are especially for the purpose of the exercises are especially for the purpose of strengthening the lungs and broadening the chest, but there are exercises, too, which are principally calculated to remedy defects such as round shoulders, drooping necks, weakness of the back and abdomen, disparity between the height of shoulders, etc.

VALUE OF SUCH EXERCISES.

The free hand exercises are now taught and practiced in many of the schools in the East, and their effect in the development of the children, both physically and mentally, is said to be remarkable.

'A fair test was made by Dr. H. D. Wey of the New York State Reformatory,'' says F. W. Whittier, Director of the Sargent Gymnasium in Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Me., in a pamphlet on the subject. Dr. Wey selected twelve of the duliest boys in his school, and gave them a thorough course in physical training, the boys themselves having no knowledge of the object of the experiment. Their average rank in their studies for the five months immediately preceding the experiment was about 45 per cent, while during their five months' course in physical training their average was 75 per cent, and what is still better they maintained their advanced standing during the six months following the discontinuance of the course, thus showing that the effect was permanent. In his report Dr. Wey says: 'With physical culture and improvement there came a mental awakening, a cerebral activity never before manifested in their prison life. Their fices parted with the duli and stolid look thay had in the beginning, assuming a more intelligent expression, while the eye gained a brightness and clearness that was before conspicuous by its absence.'' cent. This year it is only 90 per cent, a failing off of 5 per cent. The percentage of the average daily attendance at the colored schools during the second quarter last year was 88 per cent. This year in the same quarter it is but 84 per cent. There was a falling off of 1 per cent in daily average attendance, even in the High School. The great decrease in the sistendance took place entirely in the last part of the quarter and is attributed almost entirely idia grippe. In some of the West End schools especially the decrease in the attendance was very unusual. Many rooms did not have half their regular number of pupils. Sickness among the teachers also has been more general during the past month than it was ever known before. Last month there were forty temporary substitutes out, which is just twice the number for whom there is usually employment.

Drexler then denied on the stand at he had ever purchased any tickets of Leaard. In statements made to different parts Drazier claimed that Officer Scully told him he police did not want to break up lettery as soon as the crusade against it by the r. Dispaych had ceased. He alleged further im after he had been arrested once for sell-ng tickets that he would be very foolish to quit the business, and advised him to go ahead and sell tickets as before and that all would be well. He stated further that Scully troubles and was in the employ of the Postway the paper's source of information would be cut off and the lotterymen's woes would be at an end. Although Drexler's stateconcerning Scully certainly de-investigation by the Police o charges have ever been preferred ments concerning Scully certainly demand investigation by the Police Board no charges have ever been preferred nor has there ever been any warrant issued against Drexier, sithough according to the story told by the officers he is guilty of false swearing. Thus while both men should be investigated, no charges have been preferred against either. Matters are permitted to remain in a state of innocuous desnetude.

WHI NO WARRANT WAS ISSUED.

Assistant - Prosecuting Autorney Dierkes gives the following explanation of why no information has been issued against Drexier for perjury, but I did not asue any because I did not think incoming the possible to make the case stick. In the first lace the charge would not be perjury, but raking voluntary false affidavit in case any warrant was issued. If he was guilty of any clause it was that and not perjury. It would be scarcely possible to convict Drexier of making a false affidavit as the informations to which he swore charged Leonard with selling lotery tickets on or about certain dates. Aithough Drexier claimed in procuring the informations that Mr. Leonard had self nim the tickets, the decements did not charge the sale to any particular party, but merely alleged that Leonard thad self nim the tickets, the documents did not charge the sale to any particular party, but merely alleged that Leonard had self nim the tickets, the documents did not charge the sale to any particular party, but merely alleged that Leonard had self nim the tickets, the documents did not charge the sale to any particular party, but merely alleged that Leonard had self nim the blockets. On the witness stand Drexier for making a false voluntary affidavit he could swear that Leonard, but was not asked whetler he ever knew Leonard to self cickets to any foldy. If a warrant was issued against Drexkr for making a false voluntary affidavit.

No me has any explanation to offer why Scullyhas not been brought before the Police Board. There have been no charges preferred against him, reflect on the honesty of Drexier suggested himself making the case. He said that if he could not make a case against Isonard he would against some of the others and took the Leizens bey, who was in the employ of the police, io Smith's and introduced him as a former disformer of the (Draxier) and all right. The boy purchased 55 worth of tokets from Mrs Smith, her husband instructing her to lit him have them. The officers sent the loy back for another and as it was being given him they made the arrests and captured the tickets in possession of Mrs. Smith, Thie is Scully's statement of the case. When the case was called on Friday a nolle prosequie was ensired. Prosecuting Attorney Claiborne averstial he took this action by the consent of the falled of Police and the defendant's attorney they stating that the woman was in a delicate condition. Chief Huebler says he did not ask the dissmissal but consented to 5 because Prosecuting Attorney Claiborne told him that the woman was in a delicate condition and that the tickets had been irregularly purchased anyhow, so that a convection would be impossible. He did not tell Mr. Claiborne of the woman's condition, but received his information from Mr. Claiborne, Officer Scully claims the case was dismissed without his consent and the reader will have to choose between the statements of Mr. Claiborne and Chief Huebler.

ASKING FOR AN INJUNCTION. The Cass Avenue Bailway Co. Want to Prevent the Laying of Tracks. ble. This morning the Cass avenue & Fair Grounds Railway Co. filed a suit asking for an injunction to prevent the Southern Railway Co. laying a track on Sixth street, between and Chestnut streets, The contains sections from all petition contains sections from all the city ordinances giving both companies rights to occupy certain streets, and then refers to the act of the Legislature which forbids the laying of a third parallel track. The Casa Avenue Railway Co. also claims that if the South St. Louis Co. is allowed to carry out its plan of turning east on Market street from Sixth to Broadway, and along Broadway to Wagh, then to Sixth, and along Broadway in the this span of track about one hundred feet long, will make the third parallel between Broadway and Sevente. Street. The petition was presented to Judge Klein and he yeaterday granted a restraining order, compelling the workmen laying the track on Sixth street, from Pine to Chestnut, to desist. He also ordered the South St. Louis Railway Co. to appear in court and show cause. Tuesday morning, February 11, why it should not be enjoined forever from laying the track mentioned. The order was served, and at noon to-day the men stopped work. The track is laid and all that remains to be done is to replace the grante blocks, but this cannot be done until the case is settled in court. New York. Feb. 8, 12 noon.—The prevaling disposition amongst traders to cover their shorts was still the chief feature of the market his morning, and Lackawanna and Rock Island were quite freely bought by this element, causing the prices of both stocks to advance about 1 per cent. When this buying ceased prices became weak, and so continued to the close of business, all stocks losing more than they had gained early in the day, and closing, as a rule, lower than last night. Union Facific was notably heavy; it did not raily in the morning, but did not weaken later, and is ½ per cent below last night's price. The bank statement helped to weaken the market in the last haif hour. The loss in reserve of $4,400,000 was greater than expected. It is accounted for by the decrease of deposits. The deposits did not gain in proportion to the increase in loans, the latter being $8,000,000. The statement wis an unfavorable one for a continuance of easy money. Sales, 120,728.

An Exciting Session of the Mining Exchange-Good Transactions. The closing call of the week on the Mining

Exchange was the most exciting one that has been held for a long time and one of the most exciting in the history of the Exchange. It was all the caller and President Abeles could do to hold the crowd in check, and it was only done by threatening heavy fines. But one fine, however, was imposed. After the call there were about a dozen appeals from recorded transactions, more than are ordinarily made in a month. The confusion was so great when the occasion of these arose that it was impossible for the caller to distinuish as between bidders and sellers, and the record had to be changed in several instances. The chief features of interest were Keystone, Pine Grove, Toutelotte and Yuma. La Union, which had been so active during the week, was passed over very quietly. Rosalis, Frisco and Gold Run also came in for some trading. In fact, it seemed as if the Morgue had been invaded and all the dead stocks were coming to life. It would scarcely be surprising, under the circumstances, if some of the stocks that have been held at so much per bushel lately would now come out and command a cent or so per share, though on what foundation it would be difficult to imagine. Frisco, for instance, which had been practically given up for lost, his been galvanized, on a report that the property will not be sold. Pine Grove, in which had been practically given up for lost, had been knocked around for a long time, is also finding purchasers, and though there is lots of it for sale the market took a strong up-turn. Keystone, which had simply been neglected, is also in demand, and the same is true of Gold Run. was only done by threatening heavy

Some day it will pay to be short of Reading, but now the buils have the best of it, on account of the quarrel for the carcass. There must be rich pickings in it to attract such skillful maniputors as have gathered around it, and we should advise the public to let it all alone for a while.

Incomplete news of the mysterious death of Mrs. Gottlieb Rolf of Okawville reached Belleville yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Rolf was the wife of a mineral well owner in Okawville, County. She had been sick with pneumonia sufficiently recovered to leave her bed. When she left her room for the first time, which was early in the morning, she went down stairs into the kitchen and then mysteriously disappeared from the house. Search peared from the house. Search was made for her, and on Wednesday her body was found in the cellar of an old building near her home. An inquest was held, at which it appeared she died from exposure and the jury rendered a verdict to that effect. The general supposition is that her mind was deranged by sickness and that she went into the cellar where she died of her accord.

As he told his story he sobbed and he did it in the right piaces. The effect of his tale on those who heard him was great. They barely restrained their tears. It is probable that he would have been released and furnished with some sum of money, had it not been for those who had known Malloy. Instead of being neglected by Uncle Sam, as he had claimed the had drawn a pension of $3 per month for three years, and a dozen times he had piedged his pension cortificate for money and drink in violation of law. His offenses have been overlooked for a long time, but the last time he was warned that he would be prosecuted if he did it again. Then, too, he had been eared for in a soldier's home at Uncle Sam's expense for more than a year, and would be there still had he be hayed him-

Uncle Sam's expense for more than a year, and would be there still had he be haved himself.

When he was before United States Commissioner Crawford this morning he revised his story. "I was without money and had been disappointed in getting work," he said. "I walked the streets Wednesday night, and did not know where to go or what to do. I concluded I would make an attempt to break the mail-box when a policeman came secound, and then I would be arrested and get a place to sleep and something to eat. I did not intend to break the box, but just to make a show of attempting to do it."

Soi Boehm, a storekeeper at Eighth and Morgan streets, described several attempts Malloy had made to break the box and told some facts in the old man's story, to which Malloy did not refer. Behm had given Mailoy a quarter the day before and refused to give him more money on Thursday, because the first quarter had been spent for whisky and not for food.

The commissioner fixed Mailoy's bail at $500, but that could not be furnished, and the old man went to jail. His case will be presented to the Grand-Jury when it meets on the 17th inst.

To the Editor w the Post-Dispatch:

Under the heading of "James Malloy's Record" in last evening's paper, Special Pension Examiner Galbraith states that there is not a particle of evidence to show that he was in the civil war. I wish to say, in justice to the old veterac, that I was a member of the same company and regiment as he, it being Company I, 102d Regiment Pennsylvania Veteran Volunteers. First Brigade, Second Division, Sixth Corps, and Jimmie, as we called him, was detailed as bugier on Gen. Wheaton's staff, and was always in the front. He seemed as proud as a peacock when he was mounted and delivering some message to the regimental commander. I understood that Gen. Wheaton commended him for his good conduct in the line of duty. He was honorably discharged from the service on account of the close of the war.

THE SENATE CONDEMNS REED.

"The vote to lay the resolution on the 'table disclosed the fact that no quorum 'was present, and the Senate adjourned," says the press report of Monday's proeedings in Congress. So the Senate adneres to the old invariable method of ascertaining the presence of a quorum, and will continue to do so. Why?

THE MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE ADDRESSES A LETTER TO MEMBERS OF CONGRESS.

Change of Base in the Agitation for Mississippi River Improvements — En-deavor to Take the Appropriation Out of the River and Harbor Bill—The Case

When the campaign for the Presidency of the Merchants' Exchange was in progress one of the arguments used by those advocating the election of the present officers was that they would manifest an unusual amount of diligence in bringing beforeCongress measures for improving the Mississippi River. The present committee on Mississippi River improvement are endeavoring to make this promise good, and since its appointment the members have held several meetings. Yesterday a meeting was held in the directors' proom and the matter was fully discussed.

IT WAS AGREED that the policy heretofore pursued by the Government and by the different Boards of Trade had been faulty in one important point. The Mississippi River had been considered as simply one of the many navi-gable waterways of the country and gable waterways of the country and the appropriations for its improvement had been included in the omnibus bill for river and farbor improvements. It was a familiar practice of Congress to grade down all appropriations asked, irrespective of the necessity that might exist for the passage of the bills as presented, and in this way the appropriations for the Mississippi will have suffered severely, as they have been greatly reduced because waterways of far less importance have asked more than should be granted. Correspondence has been opened with the various cities located on the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers, and their co-operation has been secured in an endeavor to make the appropriation for the Mississippi a special one, and take it out of the omnibus river and harbor bill.

one, and take it out of the omnibus river and harbor bill.

At the meeting the following letter was formulated and adopted. It will be sent to all the members of the House and Senate.

"The Mississippi River Improvement Committee of the Merchants' Exchange of St. Louis has been informed through the public press that the Senate Committee on Commerce has decided to report at once bills for the improvement of the Soo Canal, Milwaukse harbor and other water ways in the West, without waiting to incorporate these appropriations in the river and harbor bill.

If any special appropriations are to be made for water-ways improvement, then this committee deslies to call the attention of the Honorable Senators and Representatives from the States of the Mississippi Valley to the urgent necessity of similar action in regard to the appropriations for the Mississippi river, and more especially for that portion of it between St. Louis and New Orieans. Its improvement is of the greatest national importance and affects the transportation interests of the country to a greater extent than any other water-way sysgreater extent than any other water-way system.

The work now being carried on under the able management and direction of the Mississippi River Commission has resulted in very great value, and could it be prosecuted with vigor and without intermission, would in a few years secure safe and uninterrupted navigation to the guif.

As an arbiter of rates the Mississippi River is the most potent factor in the transportation interests of the West. With its improvement the increase of exports via the Guif has kept steady pace, and from very small baginnings in 1872, has increased yearly until, in 1889, nearly 20 per cent of the entire exports of corn from the United States was by this route.

The freight on corn from St. Louis to New Orleans has been less than 6c per bushel, making the freight to Liverpool via the river route less than 17c per bushel, and by the maintenance of this rate, the rail rate to the East, both for home consumption and for export, was reduced to the minimum, viz.: 12.88 cents per bushel, which would not have been secured except for the competition of the river route.

have been secured except for the competition of the river route.

Therefore, every consideration, both of economy and expediency, calls for the prompt and vigorous prosecution of this work by the general Government, and this can only be accomplished by liberal and continuous appropriations.

This committee therefore respectfully, but exprestly proper upon the Honorable Senators.

This committee therefore respectfully, but earnestly arges upon the Honorable Senators and Representatives of the great Mississippi Valley the necessity and desirability of securing at once, without waiting for the River and Harbor Bill, the necessary appropriations for continuing the work of improving the Mississippi River between St. Louis and New Orleans, in the same manner as has been done in the Senate for the Soo Canal and other work, by special bills for this special work.

THE ICE CROP.

The Northern Lake Supply Large Enough to Meet All Demands.

In spite of the remarkably warm winter there is said to be little prospect of an loc famine, and little or no reason for any ad-vance in the price of ice for domestic con-sumption. The roads running west of this olty report that but fittle loc has been cut in the sections reached by them. The Missouri was closed by ice at Atchison, but it was never in a condition to cut, while the supply in the immediate vicinity of the city is not worth counting. In lowa the same condition of affairs prevalls, and except in the northern counties there has been very little cutting done. In Minnesota, however, an immense crop has been harvested, and the quality is said to be of the best, while the supply is practically unlimited. The railroads reaching that region state that low rates have been made and that many trainicads are being shipped every day. The failure of the local crop will not, it is believed, have any effect on the prices of ice sold for domestic purposes, as in the coldest season nearly all the supply to meet this demand is drawn from lows and Minnesota, the home crop being used by those who care little for the quality of the ice, as it is desired only to produce a certain degree of cold. From estimates made it is believed that enough ice is now in store to amply aupply the needs of the city during the present year, and the abundance of the Northern crop will relieve any shortings that may develop itself. mmense amount is stored on the Upper Mis

The jolly old English janitor, the staunch guardian of all the girls, was one of the first to greet Mrs. Cleveland at the hotel. A simile and a cheery "Helio" was his reward. "How comfortable you have made this old hotel," said Mrs. Cleveland, as she passed through the halls. "I feel like a school girl again." Nor did her actions desy her words, for as she mingled with the college girls she could readily be taken for a gay sophomore or a frisky junior. At il o'clock a party consisting of Mrs. Cleveland, President of the college, and Miss Smith, the principal, visited the new college building. The interior is only partly completed and rough planks and stagings take the place of stairways. On this account some danger was connected with the tour of inspection, but Mrs. Cleveland led the way and skipped across planks with surprising agility. In the southeast corner of the building is a large room, made as near as possible to correspond to the room occupied by Mrs. Cleveland in the old building. MOLLIE MAGUIRES.

The Hagney Murder Thought to Have Bee Instigated by That Society.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 .- A Phoenixville (Pa.) xistence is believed by the anthorities of Chester County, who have reason to suspe that Patrick Hagney, the special officer of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad who was shot last Sunday morning in this town, was murdered at the instigation of that society. The Reading Co. has officers working on the clue, which it is thought may lead to the unearthing of the famous organization which infested the Pennsylvania coal regions a few years ago, or at least result in the discovery of a society formed for similar purposes. When Chief of Police Jos. Moore of Phonauxville began an investigation of the circumstances connected with the shooting of Hagney he found a large piece of paper tacked to a wheelbarrow a few feet away from the epot where the murdered man had been standing when he was shot. On the paper in large letters was the heading: "Death to Traitors." and star shot last Sunday morning in this town, was was shot. On the paper in large letters was the heading: "Death to Traitors," and stating in effect that the Mollie Maguires always removed their enemies even if murder had to be resorted to. It also stated that when the opportunity was presented, two local policemen named Dennis Kelly and John Kanewould share the same fate as Hagney? The letter was signed "Jack the Ripper." This paper is now in the possession of Adolphus Banzano, the Chief Engineer and Vice-President of the Phonix Bridge Co. It is guarded as carefully as a jewel of incalculable value, and it is impossible to secure even a copy of it. Coroner Ashbridge of Philadelphia has been taying to secure it but he has not been successful.

been trying to secure it but he has not been successful.

While a correspondent was talking to Deputy Coroner Howell of the murder, a friend of the latter stated that to his knowledge a meeting of Moille Maguires was held on Sunday last in High street, Fottstown, But little information can be gleaned from the authorities, as they think that publicity given to the case at this time will interfere with their investigation. While there appears to be strong evidence that Bernard Meiler, the man who is in prison here, did commit the murder, as Hagney charged in his ante-mortem statement, yet it is believed that he only acted as the agent for some organization. He has a bad reputation.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch.

NEW York, Feb. 8.—The story that Geo. Peli of Pell, Wallack & Co., who was mixed up in the Sixth National bank trouble, does not belong to the Peli family of Peliham, proves to be untrue. It is generally known that the Pells have never been particularly proud of their relationship, but the relationproud of their relationship, but the relationship has always been acknowledged. Pell, who is a good-looking, athletic fellow, about 40 years of age, married a Mias Bates, daughter of old Martin Bates and she brought him considerable money. When he first came to New York he paid very marked attention to the youngest daughter of Wm. H. Vanderbilt and it looked very much at one time as though they would be married. His suit was unquestionably favored by the father, who, for some reason, entertained a decided prejudice against Dr. Webb. The young woman, however, and her mother, favored Dr. Webb, and the girl. Vanderbilt never got ever his feeling in the matter and it is understood that when he came to make his will Mrs. Webb was the only daughter whose inheritance was hampered with any conditions or restrictions.

REGULATING LAWS.

There has been some little attempt to regulate dairies by law, but more attention has been paid to the prevention of the sale of adulterated milk. Some disreputable dealers have secretly been accustomed to coloring their milk and cream with annato or caranei. These coloring substances have given to the poor bodied watered stuff a look suggestive of sleek, healthy cows and clover fields.

THE CITY ORDINANCE

suggestive of sieer, healthy cows and clover fields.

THE CITY ORDINANCE for the inspection of milk antedates the State law on the same subject nearly two years and it is under the ordinance that the inspection is being conducted by Dr. J. E. Suilivan, Milk Inspector. The ordinance provides for the appointment of such an officer with an annual sniary of $1,500. He is required to be a competent chemist and to examine all samples of milk submitted to him. He is also required to enter upon the premises of any dealer of milk or cream and secure and analyze samples of milk. The ordinance fixes the following standard for milk:

Provided that the solids shall not contain less than 12 per cent of butter fat.

Offering for sale milk or cream under standard, adulterated or colored milk or cream or skimmed milk are offenses punishable by fines and imprisonment. The Milk Inspector is required to prosecute all offenders detected by

The same ordinance provides for the ap-pointment of a Dairy Inspector, salary $1,000 per annum, who shall inspect dairies and see that the cows are fed wholesome food, that the stables are kept clean and prevent the milk-ing of diseased or bad conditioned cows. Violations of this section of the law by dairymen are punishable by small fines.

THE ENTE LAW

provides that in cities having a population of 300,000 or more the Boards of Health shall appoint a chief inspector of milk-and such assistants as are deemed necessary—who shall be a chemist. The inspector shall cause samples of milk to be taken and analyze them, the result to be used in the prosecution of such dealers as are found to be selling milk or cream below standard.

Dealers are required to register in the Inspector's office before beginning to do busi-

Dealers are required to register in the Inspector's office before beginning to do business and pay a fee of 50 cents. Failure to register is punishable by a fine not exceeding $20. The same standards for milk and cream are set up as in the city ordinance and the penalties are substantially the same. There are two additional provisions, one compelling "akimmed milk" to be marked in uncondensed Roman letters not less than one inch in length on the outside of every vessel, can or puckage containing such milk; and the following section:

"Sec. 7. Whoever, by himself or by his servant or agent of any other person, sells, exchanges or delivers, or has in his custody or possession with intent to sell or exchange, are exposes or offers for sale or exchange, are exposes or offers for sale or exchange, are exposes or offers for sale or exchange, are exposes or residue from distilleries, vinegar, glucose or exide the whole or in part on the refuse or residue from distilleries, vinegar, glucose or starch factories, whether designated as swill, distillery slop, grains, feed for live stock, or by any other name, or upon any substance in a state of purefaction or fermentation, all of which is hereby declared to be impure and unwholesome, or from sick or diseased cows, shall, for a first offense, be punished by a fine of not less than $30 nor more than $300 for a second offense, by a fine of not less than $160 nor more than $300, or by imprisonment in the house of correction or in the jail of such city or county for not less than thirty nor more than sixty days; and for a subsequent in the house of correction or in the jail of such city or county for not less than thirty nor more than sixty days; and for a subsequent in the house of correction or in the jail of such city or county for not less than sixty nor more than minety days."

MILK INSPECTOR SULLYAM.

It was not until October, 1889, that Dr. Sullivan entered upon the dischange of the duties of milk inspector under the city ordinance. The State law equipped darles, but then our powers are imited. The people have become awakened to the fast that milk is adulterated, and in consequence the uncorupulous dairyman is becoming more cautious. Since I began work in October I have prosecuted twenty-five dairymen. Three cases of coloring cream are pending. One case of selling milk below standard was noile prosequied as there was a mistaxe in the name of the dairyman. Eights were convicted of coloring cream; three were convicted of coloring milk and ten were convicted of selling milk below standard. There is a total of twenty-one convictions. There is a total of twenty-one convictions. There is no reason why milk should be below standard in St. Louis unless it is the hydrant. A fair standard would be it per cent solids, of which there shall be $4.10 butter fat in milk and 35 per cent in cream. Milk that will not come up to our standard is very poor indeed."

This body of ours has been likened to a tenement. It often has a hainted apariment—the stomach. Scared by the eldrich sprite, dyspensia, digestion files and refuses to return. What can break the spell, what can raise the ban laid upon the unhappy organs? We answer unhestatingly, Hestetter's Stomach Bitters, and we are warranted in the response by the recorded testimony of myrlads, covering a period of over a third of a century. A course of the Bitters, begun in any stage of the affliction, and persistently followed, will terminate in cure postive, not partial. The Bitters restores tone to the not perman. The hitters restores tone to the epigastric nerve, renews and purifies the juices exuding from the cellular tissue that act uppn the food digestively, expels bile from the stomach and the blood and promotes a regular habit of body. Malaria, kidney complaint, nervonances, rheumatism and neuralgia give away to this medicine.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Special telegrams to "Bradstreet's" indicate a moderate improvement in the movement of general merchandise East of the Rocky Mountains, with more recognition. 7619 b untains, with more seasonable weather and more April 7714 June 7714 a July 7419@48 b Aug. 7442 b ctive demand for staple goods. Prices of cattle and 771/2 77409 active demand for scapie goods. Prices of cattle and hogs generally tend lower on a free movement. Wheat is depressed on the Pacific Coast by free offerings and large interior stocks. Groceries, dry goods and drugs are fairly active. Iron prices are fairly steady on the belief that the demand will increase 743403 7456@% CORN. 25% a 26% a 27% a 28% a 28% b per cent more than in December last, and are exceeded only by mosthly totals in October, 1889, and December, 1886. The movement of flour has been dull and prices have been shaded. Stocks at New York are officially reported at a bout 282, 900 bits, but it is notorious that the total on dock and in store here exceeds that aggregate. Reports to BradStreet's show 1.781, 707 bits in stock of first and second hands at seventy-three cities on February 1, an increase of 17,931 bits since January. Wheat reacted some after "dvancing is on heavy sales, depressing cables and indifference of exporters, closing igc up on the week. Bradstreet's reports of available stocks of wheat cast of the Rocky Mountains, United States and Canada show 49,691,349 bu on February 1, or 4,585,637 bu less than on January 1, 584,637 bu compared with a year ago. Eastern stocks are 2,276,737 bu larger, and for both coasts 3,977,149 bu larger. "Bradstreet's" totals with Beerbohm's report of stocks in Europe and affoat here for February 1 show a decrease of 9,558,585 bu during January, or 8.3 per cent, and a decrease of 18,926,585 bu compared with February 1, 1889, or 11.6 per cent. Export purchases of conhave been free at Allantic ports, but free offerings and large supplies depressed prices. Exports of wheat are larger because of a larger movement from the Pacincoast. Result of a Sanitary Survey of Buildings in Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 8.—The State Board of Health has completed the extensive and novel sanitary survey of the school houses for many weeks. Reports have been received from 3,186 schools. The results of the survey are slarming and demand attention from the authorities. In the schools reporting are 12,833 near-sighted pupils. Eighteen per cent 12,833 near-sighted pupils. Eighteen per cent of the grounds need drainage, 71 per cent of the houses are not properly ventilated, 12 per cent are not properly heated, 34 per cent nave blackboards between the windows, 30 per cent have bad water supply, 45 per cent have dangerous nuisances near them, 6 per cent require pupils to be vaccinated and 12 per cent pupils coming from families in which contagious diseases are prevailing, are not excluded from school. The "dangerous nuisances" referred to are cemeteries, ponds, etc. The dangerous evils are shown to be poor ventiliation and bail water supply. In many instances the arrangements of outbuildings are such that a deliberate purpose to taint the morality of the pupils would hardly have suggested any different plan.

LaGrippe Cured by Niggemann's Black Tonic Brutal Hack Drivers.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. HESTER, N. Y., Feb. 8 .- Officer Brown heard cries for help Wednesday night and ordered the driver of a back that was dashing to stop. He did not obey, and a patro past to stop. He did not obey, and a patrol wagon being called a two-hours chase ensued. The hack was at last overhauled and two girls, their faces bleeding and their clothes torn, were found inside. They were Huida and Emma Hilgendorf, sisters, aged 15 and 19 years, and the men who had so villainously treated them were Daniel Hurley and Chas. Donahue, two hackmen. The girls had engaged the hack at the Court-house to go to an address in the northern part of the city. They supposed all was right until the hack passed over Clarissa street bridge, when they saw that they were two miles out of their way and gave the alarm. The men attempted to assault them and threatened to throw them into the Genessee River when they screamed to attract attention. The men were held on a charge of abduction and attempted murder.

Burning of Schenectady.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch. events connected with the early history of this State was the burning of Schenectady and the massacre of nearly its entire population by the French and their Indian allies on the night of February 8, 1890. Services commemorative of the event, arranged by a joint committee selected from the Common Council, the consistory of the First Reformed Church and the Holland Society will be held in the First Reformed Church on Sunday evening. The famous attack upon the fort was made at 2 o'clock in the morning and the sack of the town began soon after. The first intimation of danger which the villagers received was the yell of the savages as the fearful on-slaught was made. Within two hours sixty people were slain. Dominick Tassemacher perished at the massacre in 1890 and the present house of worthip of the First Reformed Church stands for far from the site occupied by the church he presched in.

Baltimore, Feb. 8.—A peculiar accident or the Chesapeake & Ohio, near the big tunnel, Hinton and Lowell, W. Va., caused the death of three men. A freight train which was going down the track at the usual speed ran into an open switch and dashed into the signal station. The little house was picked up and carried into the river. The operator, who was in the station, the foreman and ongineer were drowned. The tracks were damaged and travel was delayed, the first train with the news coming in last night.

John I Rogers, solicitor for the Philadelphia Ball club, limited, Thursday filed three bills in equity in the Common Pleas Court No. 4, one against J. G. Fogarty and Henry M. Love one against A. B. Sanders and Henry M. Love, and one against A. B. Sanders and Henry M. Love. The court is asked to restrain in each case each first named defendant from playing base ball with or giving his services as a ball-player for the season of 1800 to any other club base ball with or giving his services as a ballplayer for the season of 1890 to any other club or organization, person or persons whatsoever, other than the plaintiff, and also to enjoin Mr. Love from "employing either Fogarty, Sanders or Farrar, or otherwise interfering with the giving of their services for said season of 1890 to the plaintiff." The first bill sets forth that Fogarty executed a contract with the Philadelphia Base Ball Club on April 22, 1889, for the season of 1889 at a salary of $2,500, this contract giving the power to the club to "reserve" the player for the following season. Such "reservation" was made for the Philadelphia Club by written notice served on Fogarty on the 21st of October, 1889. The charge is that Fogarty had recently contracted to give his services as ball player for the season beginning April 1, 1890, to the defendant, H. M. Love, with privliego to Love to assign said contract to the Players' National League Base Ball Club of Philadelphia, and that Fogarty had said he would not play for the plaintiff during the season of 1890. The charges in Sanders' case are similar except that the contract was signed on the 23d of October, 1889, and Sanders' salary was to be $2,000, with a bonns of
675. Farrar's contract was signed march 24, 1889, and his salary was to be $2,000. The facts of reservation and a new contract are set out exactly as in the two other cases.

FOUGHT A DRAW. McCarthy and Dixon Battle for Seventy Rounds Without Result.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 8 .- Cal McCarthy of Jersey City and George Dixon, colored, of Boston, fought here last evening in a South weight championship of the world held by the former. They fought seventy rounds to a draw. McCarthy had decidedly the best of the fight at the opening, and then Dixon had the fight at the opening, and then Dixon had the advantage for awhile, but after the twenty-fifth round honors were even. Several times McCarthy resorted to unfair tactics and was hissod. He realized that he had met an antagoniss who was apt to defeat him. There were 100 New Yorkers at the fight. It was 9 o'clock when the 114-pounders began work. In the first round McCarthy opened on the Bostonian and landed on his face and wind several times while Dixon was striking wildly for him. The Jersey boy again had the fighting nearly all his own way in the second round, landing almost at will on the negro. In the third round McCarthy pranced all around Dixon, hit him at will and got away without return. Odds of $1,000 to $600 were freely offered on the champion.

the third round McCarthy pranced all around Dixon, hit him at will and got away without return. Odds of $1,000 to $600 were freely offered on the champion.

Dixon seemed to wake up in the fourth round. He reached for McCarthy several times, but the Jersey lad was always somewhere else about that time. After McCarthy had landed on his neck and eye the negro rushed him and had the best of the fierce infighting which followed. McCarthy tried to finish him in the fifth round, but did not succeed, though he punished him badly. In the sixth the white boy again inflicted telling punishment on Dixon and it looked as if it would be a brief battle. Dixon railled in the seventh, however, and McCarthy dropped to avoid punishment.

There was hard fighting in the eighth, each man doing his share. The same was true of the ninth and tenth. In the eleventh round McCarthy was badly punished. Dixon landed heavily three times in succession and followed up his work by haummering his antagonist until the Jersey boy was groggy. Another half minute would have finished the champion. McCarthy clienced his man in the twelfth and would not brosk when ordered to do so. He also butted Dixon, but a claim of foul was not allowed. The champion was playing for a rest. Dixon hit with much more force. In the thirteenth both did considerable work, the colored boy having a shade the advantage, however. At the conclusion of the round the betting was again in his favor. McCarthy railled in the nineteenth round and forced the fighting. He hit Dixon almost at will and the betting was again in his favor. McCarthy had a shade the better of the twentieth round and did telling work in the twentieth round and did telling work in the twentieth round and did telling work in the twentieth round and man McCarthy lorded by friends anxious. Is the twenty-second Dixon showed up in good form and even money was offered on him. Dixon's legs now troubled him and McCarthy lorded the fighting was done, and at the end of the seventieth round the crowd insisted on a draw,

A CHEERLESS HOME

Inder Orders, a Constable Acting for F. W. Poters' Money Lending Firm Takes Away Every Article of Furniture and Leaves the Victim in a Cold and Dream Shanty-How the Unfortunate Woman

No. 1208 Morgan street, a little story-and-a-half shanty, partly built of brick and partly of weather-beaten lumber, is the home of Mrs. Phyllis Scott, an old colored woman, a wid-ow, with one child, a deaf mute. They call the shanty home, and a cheerless place it is indeed. The haif-fastened boards which were originally intended to protect the interior from the weather, swing and creak in the wind; the windows, composed of a few panes of glass and a larger number of old hats and hunches of clothing, ware effectually keep the bunches of clothing, very effectually keep the most of the light from the interior, and through the cracks and chinks in the different parts of the house the wind whistled. In the front room was a bed covered with a well-worn but snow-white counterpane. The floor was covered with an assortment of pieces of carpet, and in one corner stood a cheap wooden washetand with a few nicknacks and a broken water pitcher. On the wall hung a tiny look ing-glass about eight inches square and a number of home-made pictures representing gaudy steamboats with impossible smokestacks vomiting volumes of green flames. Everything was as neat as a new pin. The ceiling showed traces of countless white-washings. The furniture had been carefully dusted, and all the articles in the room showed careful attention.

In the kitchen, a small room about 6 feet by 10 feet square, stood a cook stove in which a bright fire was burning and on which were two steaming kettles. Near the stove stood a wash-tub on two broken chairs. The tub was full of clothes. Some one had just left if A shelf on the wall was covered with cheap glass and china dishes, a small lamp with a broken chimney and some cheap knives and torks. The kitchen table had not yet been cleared of the breakfast dishes and the remnants of the meal, of which very few were left, showed that delicacies had been strangers to the repast.

At about 10 o'clock yesterday morning a furniture wagon drove up to the door, and a constable jumped to the ground; going to the door he knocked, but no one answered. Finally some one appeared at the kitchen door and asked what was wanted.

"Where is Mirs. Phyllis Scott?"

Then the bed was taken apart and carried out on to the sidewalk. The constable stood with his list in his hand and nointed out which articles were to be taken. The old woman seized the bed clothes and begged them not to take them away.

MRS. Scott was seen by a Post-DISPATCH reporter and told the reason for the taking away of her household goods. Her story is as follows:

On April 27, 1889, Mrs. Scott went to the office of F. W. Peters and applied for a loan of $20. She secured the money and gave her note for $30 and also a chattel mortgage on all her household property. The note was to be paid in thirty days and the mortgage would then be declared released. NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Yesterday there was a case in the Yorkville Court that aroused coniderable interest. The circumstances are as ollows: Fred W. Lobsheld, a mere boy, but well educated and connected with an eminently respectable family in Youngstown, O., attempted suicide in Central Park by shooting nimself in the left breast. Policeman Bichlers saw him and took him into custody. Lobscheld had since been in the hospital, and his condition was such that he was able to appear condition was such that he was able to appear in court this morning.

"Young man," said the Judge, "why did you attempt to take your life?"

"I was despondent, Judge," he replied.
"I had a quarrel with my father and I could get no work."

"I'll have to remand you for trial in the general sassions."

"I'll have to remand you for trial in the general sessions."

As Lobscheid stepped down a little woman with a sweet, pathetic face came within the rail and clutched the young man's arm. She had to release her grasp for the young man had to be taken down stairs. She was uncertain as to what she would do for a moment, but finally she stepped up to the bar and addressing the Judge and clerk said: "I am his mother, Judge, and I hope you will deal with him kindly. He's only a boy and he did not know what he was doing."

"Madam," said the Judge, "the case is now out of my hands; I am very sorry, but I can do nothing."

In Lobscheid's effects found on him, when arrested, was a letter addressed to his mother in which he bewailed his fate and told her his intention to take his life. One phrase shows a partial motive for the step he took: "Life without enjoyment is not worth living. Those who find satisfaction without it are fools." A little diary had numerous entries in Latin, in which he likened life to a lottery. There were also drawings in it which showed considerable artistic skill.

Saloons Closed at Poplar Bluff.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch.
POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Feb. 8.—At a meeting last week the City Council decided to rais aloon license to $1,100 a year. The saloon keepers, preferring not to pay, decided not to continue in the business. All the saloons in town were closed on the 6th inst., except that of E. M. Wright, whose license does not expire until to-day.

THAT TERRIBLE "GRIPPE." What It Really Is Explained by One of the

Medical colleges, in conversation with the writer the other evening, said:

"La Grippe," the Russian influenza, that has caused so much talk, is a more severe affliction than people usually think. It arises mysteriously and appears to have its origin in the atmosphere. The last time it visited America was in 1803, and it came then, as now, from Asia. The name 'influenza,' comes from the suggestion that the malady was due to the 'influences' of the heavenly bodies, but more modern science has discovered that it is due to the changes in the electrical conditions. Whatever may be the cause, it is astrong congestion of the blood vessels and mucous mem-Medical colleges, in conversation with the writer ditions. Whatever may be the cause, it is a strong congestion of the blood vessels and mucous membrane, principally in the head and throat, and nothing but strong stimulants will check this congestion and keep the blood actively circulating. For this purpose I know of nothing better than pure whiskey, and I believe Duffy's Pure Mais to be the best and purest whiskey known to the world.
